

THE CENTRAL RECORD.

THIRTY SECOND YEAR

LANCASTER, KY., THURSDAY AFTERNOON, NOVEMBER 17, 1921.

NUMBER 32

DO NOT CENSURE YOUR NEIGHBOR

For Exercising The Right You Reserve
To Yourself—To Vote As He Chooses.

Almost as sacred as the constitutional right to "Worship God in what-soever manner your conscience dictates," is the constitutional right of suffrage. Every person has the right to vote just as they please, and it is not our province to censure for their manner of exercising that right.

Some people are what some choose to call "hide bound," that is they would vote for a "yaller dog" provided the dog was under the emblem of their particular party, and that is their right; some people draw party lines only in national races, or where party issues are involved, while others vote as their conscience may dictate, irrespective of party lines, and still others vote for the man, preferring to choose from among the candidates of both parties such men as they think will make the best of the future. There are a great many people, who especially in county races, prefer to vote for those whom they consider their friends.

None of these various methods have we the right to censure or condemn. We must vouchsafe to everyone the right which we reserve to ourselves—to vote just exactly as we choose.

Because a man, or a woman, belongs to "our lodge" or "our church," and we are a candidate for office, we are not of a necessity to expect that they will support us with their vote. Perhaps they deem someone else more fitted for the office to which we aspire, or perhaps the other claimant, in their estimation, has a stronger claim than we to their suffrage. Be that as it may, they had a perfect right, and no right did, vote as they pleased—Just as you had a right and did. And above all things do not allow politics to engender hard feelings or interfere with friendships, for politics is changeable and fleeting, and a strong friendship is not easily won and should not be lightly held.

Therefore, we say, do not cherish ill feeling toward your fellow lodge-man or fellow churchman or your neighbor or friend because he or she did not vote for your favorite candidate, but rather did just as you yourself voted as they chose.

In most cases the defeated candidate is an old hand at the game, and takes his defeat philosophically, remembering that the time may come when he may desire to make another race, and the censuring of those who failed to vote for him in his late unsuccessful try will most assuredly not be of material benefit to him in the future.

The election is over. Let us forget it and all of us endeavor to hold up the hands of our new officers, and as good citizens assist them in the performance of their duties, to the end that they may make as good officers as those who we would have had in their stead.

Haselden Has Small Majority.

Joe S. Haselden, for State Senator, defeated Joe E. Robinson, the democratic nominee, by less than 75, out of a possible 30,000 or more votes. It was a close race and Mr. Robinson made a wonderful fight. The district went 1,400 republican last year and 700 the year before, when women did not indulge in the right of suffrage. Mr. Robinson issues a manly card in his paper, the Lancaster Record, accepting defeat and thanking those who supported him. It is unfortunate for this district that he was defeated, but once isn't always and twice is not forever. He will represent this district in the Senate yet, and may be a little later will be governor of the great state of Kentucky. We hope so, any way.—Interior Journal.

REPUBLICANS

Elect County Judge In Lincoln.

Lincoln county did herself proud in the recent election, electing the entire democratic ticket with the exception of county judge.

Judge T. A. Rice, who has served Lincoln most acceptably as county judge, was defeated by Ben D. Bell, republican.

HEIDAL SANFORD POST CELEBRATES

Two Ball Games In The Afternoon

MEMORIAL SERVICES AT NIGHT

Members of the Heidal Sanford Post American Legion celebrated Armistice celebration in Lancaster Friday with two big ball games and ended at the School Auditorium that night with memorial services in honor of the departed brothers who made the supreme sacrifice in the great World's War.

Starting promptly at 12:45 the Legionnaires of the County assembled on the Square, where they marched to the Leavell field, where they played the Paint Lick boys and defeated them by the score of 21 to 0.

The second game was followed immediately between the Lancaster High School team, who defeated the Lebanon H. Lads by the overwhelming score of 53 to 0.

Between the two games the girls basketball team entertained the crowd.

Rev. L. N. Thompson delivered the address of the evening at the High School Auditorium. He paid high tribute to the service men and made a most excellent address.

The program consisted of several beautiful songs rendered by the girls' glee club of the High School, together with the Legion quartette.

Rev. Willie P. Rogers, Vice Commander opened and closed the meeting by prayer.

Attending I. O. O. F. Grand Lodge

Mr. George Smith, Jr. is in Maxville this week attending the Odd Fellows Grand Lodge as a representative from the local lodge. Mrs. Smith accompanied him for a visit to her old home.

Fox Hunters At Crab Orchard

The annual meeting of the Fox Hunters' Association is in session at Crab Orchard, the meet to last ten days. About two hundred are in attendance, with the largest number of dogs ever seen at a meeting. The weather is ideal and lovers of the chase from all directions are enjoying the meeting to the fullest extent.

First Time Home In Eighteen Years.

Mr. Allen O. Burnside, who was here last week for a short visit to his brothers, Messrs. J. A. and Jno. Burnside, has not visited the old home in eighteen years. He is located in northern Indiana. He and his boss had run down to Louisville to buy "feeders" and took an extra day to run down here and see "Ginger's" relatives.

Election Goes Off Quietly.

The above has become a common expression in Garrard county in late years, and the last election was no exception, there being not a fracas of any kind to mar the day.

We are sorry to note that other parts of the old Commonwealth were not so fortunate. "Bloody Breathitt," especially upholding her reputation, eight men killed and as many more wounded in election rows in that county.

Decorate For Armistice Day

Several of the merchants of the city had their windows decorated in American Legion colors last week for "Armistice Day." Joseph's and J. E. Dickerson and Sons were very attractive, the other merchants having flags and similar decorations keeping in touch with the day.

We are pleased to note that they are this week decorating in honor of the High School, and Josephs have some very attractive high school colors with a large white button with L. H. S. on same that they are selling at 25cts. each House Hunters Busy.

Just about this time of year the house hunter begins to get busy, seeking a domicile for the coming year. While there is no particular scarcity of dwellings for rent in Lancaster at present, yet the wary ones are seeking most suitable locations, and before the coming of the new year the search may become as animated one.

GARRARD COUNTY GOES BOUNCING OVER

The Greatest Of All Campaigns Comes To A Successful Close With Garrard On The Right Side Of The Ledger.
Over By 82 1/2 Per Cent.

One of the hardest worked campaigns ever launched in Garrard, came to a successful end on last Monday night, and when all contracts had been accounted for with all the polls of seventeen precincts in the figures told that Garrard County had signed her part of tobacco in the Cooperative Tobacco Marketing Association that was started here some few months ago.

The farmers of this county should consider themselves fortunate in going into this association and uniting themselves to get a reasonable profit for their tobacco, to stabilize the price of the weed and thus promote better living conditions.

Judge Robert Worth Bingham, the father of this movement, who has given both his time and money for the cause stated in his last speech that he wanted to take the women and children out of the Kentucky tobacco patch, and it looks now that the air castles that he was building will be constructed into real buildings.

To put Garrard over in this movement was no little task and it required the cooperation of everyone and it was the interest that was put into this work to make it a go, not only did the farmers of the county join hands but also their city brothers, who rallied to the cause whenever called upon. Owing to the fact that Garrard raises so much tobacco it required a little longer to get her to sign up, to put her in the same class with her sister counties.

As stated above everyone worked unceasingly to put this movement over, however, too much credit cannot be given Judge Lewis L. Walker, County Chairman, and Mr. J. M. Farra, who have neglected all of their business to devote their entire time to this, and it was their untiring efforts that has made this plan to work in Garrard, then, too, the County precinct chairmen and their assistants, have worked and have given the matter much attention.

1,483 contracts were signed, making a total of 3,886,197 pounds or 82 1/2 per cent.

The list of those who signed since the last issue will be found on page ten of this issue.

Prices Fluctuate.

Mr. C. C. Barnett, the well known Buckeye pike farmer, gives us the following illustrate of the difference in prices now and two years ago:

Two years ago Mr. Barnett had occasion to have new rubber tires put on his buggy; he paid for the work with ten bushels of corn and had one dollar balance left from what he received for the corn. This year he had occasion to have the same work done on the same buggy, but it took the proceeds of 30 bushels of corn, and left Mr. Barnett 50 cents in the hole.

Moral: Pool your tobacco, and you will doubtless be so pleased with the result that before your buggy again needs re-tiring you will have an opportunity to pool your corn, and the old two bushel price will return.

Some Mustard.

Mr. Luther B. Raney brought to the Record office, and it is now on exhibition in our window, a plant of the white curly mustard variety, which is indeed a "whopper." The plant is 3 feet tall and weighed 20 pounds, and would have made several "messes" for a large size family.

Mr. Aubrey Bourne and Mr. A. M. Marida brought in two of the largest turnips we have ever seen and the fine box of July Irish potatoes grown by S. J. Bourne would take the blue ribbon anywhere.

Notice.

Owing to the fact that the Record force is expecting an invitation out to eat Turkey with some of their friends, we ask that all correspondents have in their letters to reach us not later than Monday, and the merchants are asked to have their change of ads to be in the office at the same time.

The Record next week will be published on Wednesday. We ask that all of our readers do not speak at once, to ask us to eat Thanksgiving dinner, we will accept the first invitation.

The Record Laboring Under Difficulties.

The Record force has been playing in hard luck the past few weeks. Manager Elkin, who is in Boston at the bedside of his wife, does not know positively when he will be able to return. During his absence, Mr. George Smith, who can always be depended upon to assist us in time of need, had the misfortune to severely sprain his ankle and was confined to his room for a week. Editor Robinson has been confined to his room with a severe cold. Thus the entire work has fallen upon the shoulders of the foreman, Mr. Len Miller. He however has been fully equal to the occasion and the Record has come out as regularly and in as good shape as if the entire force was up and working full time.

A Fitting Tribute

A handsome marble shaft has just been placed at the grave of Rev. George O. Barnes, the beloved Kentucky evangelist, whose memory is yet dear to the hearts of many Lancaster people.

The memorial was erected by popular subscription, and was raised principally through the efforts of Ed. C. Walton, of Stanford, one of Bro. Barnes' warmest friends and admirers.

One of the greatest and most successful revivals ever held in Lancaster was the one conducted by Bro. Barnes, when the old court house was crowded at each meeting to hear his doctrine of "God is love," and to the strains of the little organ and the sweet voice of Miss Marie, many were converted.

Campbell Boy Beats Father's Corn Yield.

A Campbell county junior agricultural club boy has demonstrated again that it is sometimes possible for boys to produce better corn and livestock than their fathers by following prescribed practices. A report from County Agent, H. F. Link states that one of the young corn growers in the county produced more than 85 bushels of corn on an acre or a 30 per cent greater yield than was obtained by his father in the same field. No commercial fertilizer was used in either case, the difference in yield being due to the application of manure, the use of good seed and correct cultivation, the report states.

Yea, Brother, That Is The Kind Garrard Grows.

If one great and glorious pie was made of the Lancaster Record's 102 1/2 pound pumpkin that is eight feet in circumference it would symbolize the prosperity America would enjoy if labor disputes and lobbyists' projects were out of the way, and all hands hard at work, and everyone singing at his work.—Ex.

Splendid Woman Ill.

Mrs. Dolly Brown has been seriously ill at the home of her son, Postmaster E. P. Brown, on Stanford street, and her host of friends are hoping for her speedy recovery. "Miss Dolly," as she is known to her friends and admirers, is one of the best known and most popular ladies in Garrard county, her pleasant smile and cheery word making a friend for her of everyone with whom she comes in contact. She has until very recently served as assistant postmaster in the Lancaster office.

A cordial welcome extended to all.

William E. Rix, Pastor.

GYMNASIUM Needed At The L. H. S. Building.

One of the most needed buildings now is a gymnasium that is badly needed at the Lancaster High School. We have all endorsed athletics in the schools and now as bad weather will soon be upon us and as the foot ball season is rapidly coming to a close, basketball will be the go. L. H. S. can have two good teams, and the only thing that we need is some place to practice and play. Let's get busy and put in some kind of a building to promote this great winter game in the school.

A Mid-Winter Fair.

The Mercer Chamber of Commerce is going to put on a big Mid-Winter Agricultural Fair in one of the large tobacco warehouses in Harrodsburg on December 3rd. The reason for holding the winter fair is that there are many farm products that it is not practical to attempt to exhibit at the summer fair. The preliminary list shows classifications on the following items: Tobacco, corn, wheat, rye, oats, barley, hemp, pumpkins, kershaws, turnips, cabbage, Irish potatoes, butter, cream, flour, meal, and poultry. There will also be a merchant's and manufacturers' display. Entries free to all. Admission free and free lunch will be served. All out of town tobacco entries must be in the day previous or by 8 A. M., morning of exhibit. Any county may enter competition as Mercer county wishes for her citizens to see the best products of the farm. The premium list already amounts to $1,000. The heaviest prizes are on tobacco and corn. A big social event is being planned for the evening.

Revival At The Christian Church.

Revival services began at the Lancaster Christian Church last Sunday evening and will last through the 27th.

Rev. M. A. Hart, of Danville is preaching and is delivering some wonderful sermons, and is having large crowds.

Miss Kathryn Warriner, of Danville is directing the music and is adding much to the services.

Green.

Mr. Jas. A. Green, age 66, a prosperous farmer of Marcellus, died in a Lexington Hospital Wednesday from complication of diseases. Mr. Green was a life long member of the Christian Church of Pleasant Grove, having united with the Christian church in his early boyhood days.

Mr. Green leaves three sisters, Miss Bettie Green and Mrs. Garrett Wood of this city and Mrs. Ellis Stone, of Cincinnati, his wife having preceded him to the grave some two years ago.

His remains will be buried in Danville tomorrow (Friday) at 11 o'clock.

Meeting Temporarily.

The "cottage prayer meetings," which the ladies of Lexington street have been conducting, have been temporarily suspended, through a spirit of cooperation with the revival services at the Christian church. The meetings will be resumed immediately after the revival closes, the first one to be held with Mrs. C. B. Bastin.

Sorry He Lost It.

John F. Walker, as good a democrat as ever stamped under the rooster, came all the way from Mississippi to cast his ballot under the party emblem, but his business affairs demanded his return even before he could ascertain the result of the election. However, defeat will not deter him, and the next election will find him making the same trip for the same purpose.

Striving To A Good End

The Disarmament of Peace Congress is under good headway, and diplomatic representatives from all the countries holding membership are in attendance, and it seems that all are earnestly striving to the end that with the coming of Thanksgiving "Peace on earth, good will toward men" may have a deeper significance.

The Buckeye Girls' Sewing Club will give a play, entitled—"The Rainbow Kimona" on Tuesday evening, Nov. 22nd, at 7:30 o'clock, at the Buckeye School Building. Admission—15 and 25cts. Proceeds to be used for School Library. Everybody invited.

LEBANON SWAMPED

Coach Carrier's Men
Are All Stars.

The Lebanon High School Foot Ball team journeyed to Lancaster last Friday afternoon and returned to their Marion County homes suffering with a 54 to 0 defeat at the hands of Capt. Cox and his string of warriors.

This game was a very much one sided affair and Coach Carrier in the last half formed an entire new team and shoved in all of his second string men to see how well they could perform under fire.

Touchdowns were made at will during the game and most every man displayed that he could be counted upon to advance the pig skin whenever called upon. The Captain attempted one drop kick during the game from the fifty yard line but the ball fell short by about 5 feet.

The following men played in Friday's game: Cox, (Capt.); W. Robinson, C.; Gastineau, Cochran, Sanders, Anderson, Lawson, G. Robinson, Crutchfield, Kavanaugh, Elliott, Bratton, Stapp, V. Gastineau, H. Cox, Speaks, Brown, Haselden and Sanford.

New Headquarters. FOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

The executive Secretary, Mr. Abbott will be found in his offices at all times and will be delighted to have you to drop in and see him.

The Commercial Club that has recently been organized in this county is now at work and within a short time we will let the people of the state know more about "The Land Of Now."

Better Dressing On Smaller Expenditures.

Miss Helen Harriman, Field Agent in Clothing, from the University of Kentucky, will speak at the Woman's Club room, Lancaster, on November 18th, at 2:30 o'clock on "Better Dressing on 'Smaller Expenditures.'"
